Senior Seminar in Sociology

Sociology 460W-01 Rhode Island College, Fall 2025 Gaige 301

Prerequisite: Soc 302, 404, and 300; Soc 400 must be taken prior or concurrently

Instructor Information

Dr. Mikaila Mariel Lemonik Arthur

marthur@ric.edu (preferred) or 401.456.8681 (be sure to leave a callback number & when to call). I respond to emails and calls Mondays through Friday afternoons, and occasionally on Sundays. Student Meetings: Drop-in availability most Mondays 4:30-5:30 or immediately after class. You can also book an appointment at https://calendly.com/mmlarthur (in person in Gaige 351 or by phone or Zoom) or let me know if you need an alternate time I have not made available to book.

Graduate Assistant

Prescilla Da Fonseca (pdafonseca 5072@email.ric.edu), a graduate student in the MA in Justice Studies Program, is available to provide extended support for your work in this course, including brainstorming ideas; talking about reading, writing, and research; and tutoring/review of skills. She will have drop in hours TBA in the Sociology Department.

This course is scheduled in a hybrid modality. We will meet in person most weeks on Mondays from 6-7:50 pm, with other components of the course completed outside of in-person meetings. You will be asked to meet with me and with smaller groups of classmates outside of scheduled class time; these meetings may occur via Zoom or in-person depending on availability. You will need to have reliable Internet access on a computer or tablet and to check your email regularly.

Course Description

The Senior Seminar in Sociology is the integrating capstone experience for sociology majors. In this course, you will bring together what you have learned in the sociology program to complete a pilot research study, reflect on your educational experience, and prepare for the world beyond RIC. The coursework will help you strengthen and solidify your sociological reading, writing, research design, data collection, and data analysis skills so that you are ready to put them to use in further education and future employment.

Materials

Calarco, Jessica. 2024. Holding it Together: How Women Became America's Safety Net. Penguin Random House. ISBN: 9780593538128

Jack, Abraham Anthony. Class Dismissed: When Colleges Ignore Inequality and Students Pay the Price. Princeton University Press. ISBN: 9780691237466

Menon, Alka V. 2023. Refashioning Race: How Global Cosmetic Surgery Crafts New Beauty Standards. University of California Press. ISBN: 9780520386723

Additional reading materials will be made available via Blackboard.

While the books are available on e-reserve, I strongly encourage you to purchase a copy of at least the one book you will focus on more intensely (to be assigned in Week 2 of class). Also, please return your ebook when you are done reading for the moment so another student can use it.

TO PROTECT THE HEALTH & SAFETY OF ALL MEMBERS OF THE CLASS, PLEASE DO NOT COME TO CLASS IF YOU ARE EXPERIENCING COVID/FLU SYMPTOMS OR HAVE BEEN EXPOSED. **

THIS SYLLABUS IS TENTATIVE AND SUBJECT TO CHANGE.

Course Requirements

This course is graded out of 110 points; the cutoff for an A grade is roughly 95. However, students will not be able to pass without at least minimally-acceptable submissions for all major assignments, given that this is a senior seminar.

- 1) Class participation: Participation includes engaging respectfully in large- and small-group discussion (including classmates' book group sessions), attending all required individual & small group meetings, etc. Not all activities will be graded; not all will be announced in advance. Should these requirements present personal difficulties for you, please contact me right away. In addition, you will be expected to complete all assigned reading and be prepared to discuss it in class. 15 points.
- 2) Career project: each student will select a job they are interested in applying for post-graduation. They will complete—with the assistance of the Career Development Center—a cover letter and resume suitable for applying for the job and will write a short (2-3 page) paper profiling the career this job would be building towards. Students will share what they have learned about their chosen career in an informal in-class presentation. 15 points.
- 3) Book groups: students will be split into teams (or work alone, depending on class size) to read one of our assigned texts more intensively and lead a book-group discussion a portion of that book. This will require your group to choose 60-90 pages to assign and to prepare discussion questions for the class and lead the discussion in small groups. 10 points.
- 4) Pilot research project: you will conduct an individual pilot research project based on a theme or topic in your assigned book. This will require a literature review, the development of a research question and methodology, pilot data collection, analysis of the data, and the writing a final paper in the style of a sociological journal article. There will be options to work collaboratively on this project, but each student must complete some portions of the work individually. This project will be completed in stages, with feedback and opportunities for revision. 60 points (including work-in-progress submissions).
- 5) Educational autobiography: In lieu of a final, each student will complete a short educational autobiography in which they write about their experiences in education, including what they have learned in the Sociology BA program, and connect their experiences to sociological ideas and concepts. 10 points.

Note: federal guidelines expect students to complete three hours of work (including both in-class and out-of-class time) for every credit hour earned (to see this definition, search for "credit hour" at https://www.ecfr.gov/current/title-34/subtitle-B/chapter-VI/part-600/subpart-A/section-600.2).

Course Schedule

The schedule below is tentative and may be rearranged as needs dictate. Please check Blackboard for more specific details. Readings & activities we will discuss in class are due no later than the beginning of class on the date for which they are listed. Nearly all assignments will be due on Sundays at 11:59 pm, with a no-questions-asked extension until 5:30 pm on Monday. Any other dates are noted specifically (peer reviews and book groups are the exceptions).

August	25: Intro to the class
	☑ Read: entire syllabus
	☐ Complete: Introductory survey, due August 31 (will ask you about book/topic preferences)
Septem	aber 1: Labor Day—No Class Meeting
	☐ Read: Willingham, "How to Read Difficult Books"
	☐ Complete: Indiana University Plagiarism Certification Test, due 9/7
	☐ Complete: read ASA Careers in Sociology page & watch at least one of the webinars
Septem	aber 8:
	☐ Read: Calarco 1-17 (Introduction)
	☐ Read: Jack 1-18 (Introduction)
	☐ Read: Menon 1-28 (Introduction)
	☐ Begin reading the rest of your Book Group book & schedule a Book Group team meeting
	Today is the Drop Deadline
Septem	aber 15:
	☐ Read: as much as possible of your assigned book by this week
	☐ Read: Edwards, "Turning Ideas into Researchable Questions" & "Overview of Writing a Research Paper," 7-24
	☐ Read: Jack, "(No) Harm in Asking," 1-4
	☐ Complete: Library Tutorial (due before meeting with librarian)
	☐ Develop a research question for your Pilot Project (project step #1), due 9/21
Septem	aber 22: No class meeting
	☐ Read: Harris & Tyner-Mullings, "Annotated Bibliographies" & "Literature Reviews, 80-88
	☐ Meet with Book Group team during class time & choose reading assignment pages
	(submit via email to Dr. Arthur & CC to group members, due end of day Weds 9/24)
	☐ Meet with Dragan, the reference librarian: https://ric.libcal.com/appointments/gill
	☐ Locate sources and submit Sources Assignment (project step #2), due 9/28
	☐ Locate job advertisement for a job you would be interested in applying for after graduation;
	determine (with my help if needed) a career path this job is part of, due 9/28

September 29: After Graduation
Jeffrey Pini from the Career and Life Design Center will join us for a portion of class—bring questions!
☐ Read: Career Readiness Materials (in Blackboard)
☐ Read: Purdue OWL ASA Style Guide
☐ Read: all literature review sources
☐ Complete annotated bibliography (project step #3), due 10/5
☐ Complete: Part 2 of Career Project (career profile), due 10/5
October 6: Methods
☐ Read: Calarco 211-215 (Appendix: Data Collection and Methods)
☐ Read: Jack 235-254 (Appendix)
☐ Read: Menon 207-216 (Methodological Appendix)
☐ Come to class prepared to talk about your career profile
☐ Complete: Part 3 of Career Project, due 10/12
☐ Sign up for an individual meeting time slot for next week
October 13: Individual Meetings Instead of Having Monday class on Wednesday
☐ Read: "The Methodology," https://libguides.usc.edu/writingguide/methodology
☐ Complete: literature review (project step #4), due 10/19
☐ Begin writing literature review and thinking about methodology prior to your individual meeting and be sure to come with questions
☐ Book Group team #1 discussion questions due this week (submit via email to Dr. Arthu with CC to group members, due by end of day Weds 10/15)
October 20: Book Club #1: TBA
□ Read: TBA
☐ Complete: draft methods section (project step #5), due 10/26
☐ Book Group team #2 discussion questions due this week (submit via email to Dr. Arthu with CC to group members, due by end of day Weds 10/22)
October 27: Book Club #2: TBA
☐ Read: TBA
☐ Book Group team #1 peer assessment due 11/2
☐ Book Group team #3 discussion questions due this week (submit via email to Dr. Arthu with CC to group members, due by end of day Weds 10/29)
☐ Begin collecting data (You must have final approval from me on your data collection instruments before you begin collecting data.)

November 3: Book club #3: 1 BA
□ Read: TBA
☐ Book Group team #2 peer assessment due 11/9
☐ Complete data collection & submit a progress report (project step #6), due 11/9
November 5 is the deadline for withdrawals for academic reasons. After that date if you need to withdraw, you must go through student life & have a documented non-academic reason (e.g. illness or military deployment).
November 10:
☐ Read: Jack, "(No) Harm in Asking," 4-13
☐ Read: Bergin, "Communicating Findings and Visualizing Data," 193-224
☐ Read: Wang & Park, "Writing the Final Report," pp. 236-60
☐ Analyze data
☐ Write draft of analysis & findings (project step #7), due 11/16
☐ Book Group team #3 peer assessment due 11/16
November 17:
☐ Read: Calarco 189-202 (Conclusion)
☐ Read: Jack 225-234 (Conclusion)
☐ Read: Menon 191-206 (Conclusion)
☐ Revise methods section (project step #8) and write draft of conclusion (project step #9), due 11/23
☐ Schedule individual meeting for next week
November 24: No class meeting—individual paper meetings as scheduled
☐ Read: Jack, "(No) Harm in Asking," entire paper
☐ Complete: paper draft for peer review, project step 10, due 11/30 (no extensions possible for peer review so submit whatever you have; if you'll be busy over Thanksgiving Break, submit before break!)
Subline Deloie Bleaki)
December 1: Last Class
☐ Complete peer reviews on pilot project, due 12/7
☐ Work on paper revisions
☐ Schedule optional individual meeting
☐ Complete: final pilot project (due 12/14)
☐ Complete: educational autobiography (due 12/14)

Course Policies

Academic Integrity: All students enrolling in this course are expected to abide by the Rhode Island College guidelines on academic honesty. More information about academic integrity and avoiding plagiarism, as well as RIC policies, can be found at https://library.ric.edu/proethics/. Examples of academic dishonesty include, but are not limited to:

- Using AI writing systems, including text editors like Grammarly and chatbots like ChatGPT and Claude, and turning in the results as if they are your own work.
- Plagiarizing written work, including copying some or all of your work from a book, a website, or another student's paper. Think about how you would feel if someone passed off your hard work as their own.
- Using sources without proper attribution. Remember that all claims in a paper that did not spring fully formed from your own head need attribution, regardless of whether or not they are paraphrased, and all direct quotes should appear in quotation marks. If you are unsure how to document sources, please see me or check the links in Blackboard.
- Turning in research reports that are fabricated or which do not accurately represent the research activities in which you engaged.
- Turning in work completed for other classes without prior permission.
- Working together with other students or seeking help from professionals or peers on assignments which prohibit such activities.
- Destroying course materials or preventing other students from achieving fully in this course. Cheating successfully is often harder than you think, and you might as well just put your effort into doing the assignment legitimately. The penalties for academic dishonesty are severe, and include receiving a 0 on the assignment for the first minor offense, receiving an F for the class for a repeated offense, and report to the Academic Integrity Committee at RIC for all offenses. If you feel the urge to engage in academic dishonesty, stop and think about what you are doing, and then come see me so we can work out a plan together to ensure your success in the course.

Extensions, Absences, and Attendance: Please make every effort to attend all scheduled class sessions. Class sessions will not be recorded and group activities cannot be made up. However, we can work out a plan for alternative assignments if you become ill, face quarantine, or otherwise will miss more than a class or two. If you need an extension, instructions for requesting one are available in Blackboard.

Unless otherwise noted, assignments are due in Blackboard at specific times as indicated in Blackboard; you can request an extension for eligible assignments using the link in Blackboard. Assignments must be saved in *.rtf, *.doc, or *.docx (preferred). Blackboard does log your submissions; you can return to an assignment yourself to see if you have submitted it correctly, and I am happy to show you how to do this so that you will not need to email me to see if I have received your work.

Course Technology: Students are expected to check their RIC email addresses and Blackboard frequently, at least a couple of times per week, and to have sufficient Internet access to complete readings & assignments via Blackboard. If you primarily use another email account, you must forward your RIC email, as I do use email to disseminate important information about the course. If you are not able to access email or Blackboard, you should seek assistance from User Support Services right away (https://our.ric.edu/department-directory/user-support-services or 456-8803).

Students with Disabilities: Students with disabilities should be sure that they are registered with the Center for Disability Access in order to ensure access to the full range of services available at Rhode Island College. Information about these services and about registration is available at https://our.ric.edu/department-directory/center-disability-access-if you have a disability that requires or would benefit from accommodations to ensure you have equal access to success in this course, it is your responsibility to come and speak with me as early as possible in the semester so that we can develop a plan together. All reasonable accommodations will be made.

Discrimination and Sexual Harassment: Rhode Island College and its faculty are committed to creating a safe and open learning environment for all students. The College prohibits all forms of discrimination, harassment, and sexual harassment, including sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking. RIC encourages all members of the community to seek support from, and report to, the Office of Institutional Equity. You may contact the Office at 401-456-8218, or learn more about college policies by visiting the https://our.ric.edu/department-directory/office-institutional-equity. If you have experienced, witnessed, and/or received information about a potential violation, you can submit an incident report at that site. Incident reports are routed to the Director of Institutional Equity / Title IX Coordinator, and will initiate outreach from the Director to the individual(s) who have experienced harm.

All faculty and staff are now mandatory reporters. This means that if we learn about something that might be sex discrimination (e.g., sexual harassment, sexual assault, intimate partner violence, stalking, pregnancy discrimination, LGBTQ discrimination), then we must report what we know to the Title IX Office. Usually, reports will only leave a record of concern, but sometimes, a report can be escalated into an investigation without a victim's consent. Mandatory reporters are expected to share information learned in all settings, including during class activities, assignments, office hours, and outside of class. Please be thoughtful about what you disclose to me.

Pregnancy Modifications: Rhode Island College prohibits differential treatment or discrimination against students based on their current, potential, or past parental, family, marital status, or pregnancy or related condition. Students experiencing pregnancy or related conditions may meet with the Title IX Coordinator to discuss reasonable modifications. The College's Pregnancy Policy is available at https://our.ric.edu/pregnancy and students can meet with the Title IX Coordinator to discuss reasonable modifications by initiating a request at that site. College policy requires all employees, upon receipt of a disclosure of pregnancy or related condition from a student, to refer that student to the Title IX Coordinator.

Basic Wellness Needs: To learn effectively, you must have basic security: a roof over your head along with a reliable place to sleep and enough food to eat. If you're having trouble with any of those things, please contact Learning for Life (l4linfo@ric.edu, or phone 401-456-6320). Students dealing with heightened feelings of sadness or hopelessness, thoughts of harm or suicide, or increased anxiety may schedule an appointment at the Counseling Center (401-456-8094). Students in distress can call 401-456-4673 (HOPE) to confidentially speak with licensed clinician 24/7 at no cost. If you are experiencing a financial emergency, the FAST Fund provides small grants, outside of the RIC financial aid system. Learn more or apply at https://fastfundric.wixsite.com/fast.

Writing Lab: Everyone, even excellent students, benefits from having another set of eyes on their writing, so visit the Writing Lab early often to help develop your ideas, organize your writing, and improve your drafts: https://our.ric.edu/department-directory/division-student-success/student-services/academic-success-center/writing-lab.

If you would like more information about the resources available at RIC or help navigating them, you can ask me at any time this semester. You do not need to tell me why you are asking to get help, whether for a friend, another student, or yourself.

Course Learning Outcomes

This course is designed to meet learning outcomes of the Sociology program (see https://www.ric.edu/department-directory/department-sociology/sociology-ba and click on "Program/Learning Goals" for more details):

- 1. Students will demonstrate an understanding of the relationship between sociological theory, research design, and interpretation and engage in work developing their research literacy.
- 2. Students will understand and engage in qualitative and quantitative data collection and analytical processes.
- 3. Students will be able to communicate, in written and oral form, sociological arguments.
- 4. Students will be able to exercise their sociological imaginations toward examining our social world as well as its practical uses and applications.

This course is designated as a Writing in the Disciplines (WID) course for the Sociology major. For more information on WID and writing in our field, please visit the Sociology Department WID page (https://www.ric.edu/department-directory/department-sociology/sociology-ba and click on "Writing in the Discipline").